From the Desk of Rabbi Marmon

The month of Cheshvan is devoid of holidays, the odd birthday notwithstanding. Popular wisdom has it that this is the reason the month is also called Marcheshvan, read as Mar (bitter) Cheshvan. This turns out not to be true, as Marcheshvan is in fact the month's original name, attested in cognate form in ancient Semitic languages such as Akkadian, and meaning simply "eighth month", which it is, in the biblical year beginning from Nisan. (The mar'ch part is comparable to Hebrew ירח "yerach," meaning moon or month, and the sh'van part is related to Hebrew שמונה "sh'monah" for eight, with some letters shifted in the borrowing process.) So, "Cheshvan" is, actually, a shortened version of the month's technically correct full name.

As there are no holidays on the calendar for a while, and you already know all about Chanukah, I'll take the opportunity to turn attention to other matters. Recently, we passed the third anniversary of the October 7th attack (as it seems history will label the event). The murder of 1200 Israelis and others, mostly Jews, and the deadliest day for Jews since the Holocaust, but including Israeli Arabs, Bedouin, foreign workers, tourists, and others as well, and on a Jewish holiday, no less, was certainly in itself a great shock to Jews around the world. The Israeli military response has been controversial in its choices, but the extreme hostility to Israel in the West, including some elements within this country, does not seem to me to grow out of Israel's military actions alone.

The accusation of genocide, with absolutely no relation to the actual meaning of the word, was already circulating on October 8th, before the Israeli response even began. As it stands today, the genocide libel ought to be laughable, on the basis of the actual number of casualties in Gaza during the war, and the documented actions Israeli forces took to protect civilians, but instead is taken as granted in much public discourse. As an example, I have repeatedly seen the figure of "100,000 tons of explosives" allegedly used in Gaza as proof of genocide, but genocide is an attempt to eliminate a population, and a ton and a half of explosives for every death in Gaza (including combatants) hardly seems to show intent to eliminate the maximum number of Palestinians. In fact, it seems to show exactly the opposite.

Book cover: Outside Looking In: Three Decades Representing the Hasidic Jewish Community of Kiryas Joel, New York, by Michael Frank Amo

Please join us on Sunday, November 8 at 9:30 AM, as Michael Frank Amo, speaks about his 25 years as a legislator representing the Hasidic community of Kiryas Yoel, N.Y. His book, Outside Looking In, is packed with amusing stories and insights. Michael has also co-authored a book on how to evaluate nursing homes, served as the Deputy Commissioner of the New York State Office of Mental Health, and has worked in the hospitality industry. The story of an outsider representing the Hasidic Satmar Jewish community of Kiryas Joel in the Orange County, New York Legislature.

His book, "Outside Looking In", chronicles the saga of Michael, as an Orange County, New York, legislator who has represented the Hasidic Jewish community of Kiryas Joel for three decades. As a political minority member of the legislature, Michael fought to get the voice and points of view heard amid during his unique role as a non-Jew representing a Satmar Hasidic community. It shows how he learned about them, how to best represent them, and why they behave so differently than others, ultimately illuminating the humanity and core values of the Satmar in relationship to the world around them, how they manage conflicts among themselves, and the non-Hasidic or secular world of Orange County. With input from many in and outside the community, Michael proposes approaches to the conflicts caused by theological differences, ignorance, bias, antisemitism, and anti-Hasidim that have fermented for nearly a half-century.

Prior to the presentation, enjoy another gourmet breakfast prepared by the infamous Congregation Shaara Tfille Men's Club crew. $10 is requested to defer costs.

Sunshine Outreach Program

Congregation Shaara Tfille is dedicated to reaching out to our fellow congregants in times of need, and also in times of joy. Do you know of a congregant who is in the hospital and would like a visit? Or someone needing a greeting card for get well wishes, condolences, or for mitzvahs such as births or milestone birthdays and anniversaries? Perhaps a congregant who may be cheered up with a "thinking of you" card or phone call? A new member of our synagogue to be welcomed with a personal call and gift basket? Please contact the committee chairperson Roberta Gottesman at (518)260-2399, or email robertagottesman@hotmail.com.

From the Desk of Judith Ehrenshaft, President

As we enter November, Thanksgiving invites us to pause and reflect on the many blessings for which we are grateful. We are reminded of (הכרת הטוב) hakarat hatov, the practice of recognizing and appreciating the good in our lives and in those around us.

We are fortunate to be part of this synagogue community, where we find connection, kindness, and a warm, welcoming spiritual home.

Wishing you and your loved ones a wonderful Thanksgiving filled with warmth, peace, and gratitude.

May we also look forward to celebrating Chanukah, the Festival of Lights, a time of family and tradition. May the lights of Chanukah bring joy, hope, and peace to all.

Please join us in welcoming Abigail Simkovic, Neil Pelone, and their children to our congregation. We are delighted to have them as part of our community!

If Israeli actions in Gaza do not account for the hostility and accusations (and renewed violence against Jews) in the West, what does? It seems to me that the fact that a Qatari propaganda outlet, Al-Jazeera, is treated as a normal part of the media spectrum, and extensive Qatari funding in western academia (up to $60B at over $1B per annum, says Google's AI summary) and politics (up to $400B, including $30-60M p/a on political lobbying in the US alone, again per Google; for comparison, AIPAC is accused of "undue influence" for spending about $3M annually on lobbying) has a lot to do with it.

That said, there is no need for Israel to make it easy for the anti-Israel propaganda machine. By the time you read this, Israel's election may already have taken place (October 27th). To my thinking, it is shameful that the government that was in power on October 7th has taken three years to submit itself to the judgment of the voters, regardless of other considerations. For three years, Israeli soldiers have gone into battle, in Gaza, Lebanon, and Iran, on the orders of a government that they hear ignored warnings prior to October 7th. They have been betrayed by a government including extremist ministers such as Betzalel Smotrich and Itamar Ben-Gvir, whose openly racist comments during the war have reliably fed the genocide libel. And they have been misguided and misused by those same ministers in a government that has ordered them to abet criminal activity in the West Bank, so long as the criminals were Israelis vandalizing, destroying property, or committing acts of violence against Palestinian civilians.

Unfortunately, Israel has a complex and arcane political system in which backroom coalition negotiations often determine much more than the will of the voters, leading to shaky governments that are easily extorted by their own most extreme elements. I hope when the dust settles this time, Israel will find itself with a government of integrity, responsibility, justice (for all), and a sense of duty to the national interest over partisan or personal interests, wherever it may be judged to sit on a left-right political spectrum. A fellow can dream.
